

VARIETALS
COOPERAGE
APPELLATION
TASTING NOTES

100% Pinot Noir
100% French oak, 15% new
Willamette Valley

PAIRINGS

Strawberry and rhubarb tart with a little balsamic drizzle and a dusting of white pepper.
Refined Santa Maria barbecue spread on the coastal plains. Smell the ocean breezes blowing over the open pit. Grill the bread first, then dunk it in garlic butter.

AMERICAN RECORDINGS.

AMERICAN SOLERA x FIELD RECORDINGS.

It might seem like a zbrwkwjcsd concept to put together a brewer from Oklahoma, a winemaker from California and grapes farmed in Oregon. But it also makes perfect sense. After years of collaborating on all things fermentable, Chase and I decided to get serious. We wanted to have some focus, but also make things in a style we really believed in. After a long day tasting through barrel after barrel, we kept coming back to a single barrel of Oregon Pinot Noir. A perfect mix of youthful energy and Old World funk. Grapes have been grown in Oregon for decades, but it's really expanded over the past 10 years — the world has discovered how special it is. Sometimes, you just need an outsider's perspective to make everything a little fresher. That is American Recordings.

2021 PINOT NOIR