

ROCKS OF BAWN

The O'Reilly family has had a passion and history of making wine in the west coast since 1989. Our home in the Pacific Northwest gives our craft expression of the finest vineyards in the Willamette, Rocks District of Milton Freewater, and exclusive locales throughout the region. Together we have crafted a legacy that has been recognized globally by critics, wine writers and consumers.

The story behind Rocks of Bawn is rooted in the historical struggle and resilience of the Irish people. Inspired by the popular Irish folk song, Rocks of Bawn pays homage to the determination of those who faced hardship on the rocky west coast of Ireland. Just as our forebears persevered in cultivating the challenging soil, we are dedicated to crafting exceptional wines that embody the spirit of tireless effort and unwavering passion.

Pinot Noir from the Yamhill Carlton area in the Willamette Valley tends to be bolder than those from neighboring regions. The soils are ancient ocean bottom which reduces berry size increasing concentration and richness. Darker than many Pinots – this delicious wine will satisfy your inner rockstar! Great after toiling in the fields – it will be the salve that you crave!

A majority of the fruit is from our medieval rockstar friends at Sylvanus Estate in the far west end of the Yamhill Carlton region – Christian and Lisa Eddleman delivered amazing concentration in 2021 and are truly salt of the earth muffins!
